

---

CONTENTS

RISS reviews

"Arab Spring": consequences for Russian and world politics

The Middle East and the Near East events highlight similar problems existing in other countries, including those of the former Soviet Union space. It concerns not only internal political processes, but also new challenges stemming from the whole system of international security, established after the World War II ..... 7

International policy

Svistunova I. A. Turkish foreign policy in the Middle East in the XXI century: regional strategy

At the beginning of the 21st century Turkey created a new strategy for the Middle East aimed at strengthening the regional positions of Ankara. Turkish foreign policy in the Middle East is the subject of acute debates amongst experts ..... 39

Khotkova E. S. The Visegrad Group: experience and prospects

Within more than 20 years of its history the Visegrad Group has become quite a popular brand. However, there are a number of questions dealt with the essence of the alliance, reasons for its viability and ambitions to acquire a significant role in the European Union and the North Atlantic Alliance ..... 56

New Eurasia

Kurtov A. A. Projects of new water channels: potential for cooperation or hidden threat to Russia's interests?

Russia's CIS partners often try to use Russian resources for their own purposes. They offer projects that can significantly affect Russian national interests. Such projects include, for example, some construction plans for major transport waterways, such as "Eurasia" channel, or diverting the flow of Siberian rivers towards a number of areas in the Central Asia ..... 71

Shtansky N. V. Policy of Russia in the process of normalizing relations between Moldova and Transnistria: analysis of expert assessments

Having analyzed the official Russian policy towards the Transnistrian issue the author concludes that interaction between the Russian Federation and the EU on the conflict resolution should be based on common interests and bring cooperation from consultative to coordination level ..... 91

Sytin A. N., Smirnov V. A. The Baltic States in the EU: unity and peculiar positions of political elite

The former Soviet Baltic States: have they won or lost their way "to come back to the West"? Whether it was necessary to them to renounce the sovereignty for the sake of becoming a part and parcel of the largest European commonality? Whether they have kept "the Baltic unity" that had been liked to be talked in the period of their struggle for leaving the USSR? ..... 98

Defense and Security

Bedritskiy A. V. International agreements on cyberspace: is there any place for consensus?

Russia and the United States are following different policies regarding international agreements on information security. The two sides defend their own models for cyber security on the international scene. The question is whether there is any place for consensus at all ..... 119

Economy

Lyzhin D. N. Prospects for creating the global grain market in the context of food crisis

The article analyses the reasons for the crisis in the world food system. It also examines current problems emerging in global grain market. While assessing the efforts exerting by the market participants the author has analyzed the general trends in the market development ..... 137

Voronin A. S., Usov I. V. Russia – ASEAN: towards energy cooperation through the dialogue

The article discusses ongoing energy dialogue between ASEAN and the Russian Federation and the prospects of its development. While taking into account the specific features of the energy market in the South East Asia, the authors suggest concrete dimensions and forms of consolidating cooperation between Russia and South East countries in the main branches of the energy sector and its infrastructure ..... 156

History

Multatuli P. V. "Icebreaker" for Napoleon (Deceitful myth about "preventive war" of 1812)

Some "slanderers of Russia" within that country and abroad are still bothering over the Russia's Victory in the 1812 Patriotic War. On the threshold of the 200-th anniversary of that Victory there has been most actively promoted a deceitful myth about Russian invasion of France. For what then and against whom were our ancestors fighting two hundred years ago? ..... 179

To the 200th Anniversary of the Patriotic War of 1812

Agafonov A. I., Trut V. P. Don Cossacks in the Battle of Borodino (26 August 1812)

Don Cossacks participation in the Battle of Borodino – the major battle of the 1812 Patriotic War – is still being estimated by historians in different ways, whereas the raid of Don Cossacks Regiments led by ataman M. I. Platonov into the French rear at the critical moment of the battle played a very important role for its outcome ..... 199

Reviews

Kuznechevskiy V. D. From Pax Britannica to Pax Americana, then – everywhere

Book review: Engdahl F. W. Gods of Money: Wall Street and the Death of the American Century / William F. Engdahl. St. Petersburg : Gelikon plus, 2011. 452 p. .... 215

Shendrikova D. S. Soviet-Italian relations on the eve of the World War II

Book review: Martelli M. Mussolini e la Russia. Le relazioni italo-sovietiche dal 1922 al 1941 / Manfredi Martelli ; pref. di Sergio Romano. Milano : Ugo Mursia, 2007. 405 p. (Martelli M. "Mussolini and Russia: Italian-Soviet relations from 1922 till 1941") ..... 220